PREFACE.

THE present work supersedes the "Bengal Local Statutory Rules and Orders," published by the Government of Bengal in two volumes in the year 1903. It forms a supplement to the Collection of Statutes relating to India (2 Vols., 1899-1901), the Unrepealed General Acts of the Governor General of India in Council (6 Vols., 1909), and the Bengal Code (which was published in five volumes in the year 1905 : a new edition is now passing through the Press).

Volume I.

2. Volume I contains lists of extant local rules and orders, having the force of law, which have been made up to the 31st March, 1912, under enactments applying to the Province of Bengal as constituted on that date. Each group of rules and orders is arranged in classified form, or (where classification was not practicable) in chronological order, against the enactments under which they were made or under which they are now kept in force.

3. Where rules or orders made under the authority of an enactment afterwards repealed and re-enacted are continued in force under the repealing enactment [either by a clause in the repealing enactment itself or by virtue of section 24 of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), or section 25 of the Bengal General Clauses Act, 1899 (Ben. Act I of 1899)], they have been entered against the corresponding section of the repealing enactment, the facts being stated in footnotes.

4. In column 7 of the lists in Volume I, references are given to other publications in which some of the rules and orders are published in extenso. The words "Not published" in that column mean not published in this work or in any official Gazette or Manual.

Volumes II and III.

5. In Volumes II and III are printed, in extenso, many of the rules and orders noted in Volume I. The number (if any) and date of the notification under which each set of rules or orders was published, and the year, Part and page of the Gazette (if any) in which the notification was published, are noted in italics at the head of the notification. The rules and orders issued under each section of an enactment are printed in chronological order.

6. From Volumes II and III are excluded all rules and orders noted in Volume I which are fully and accurately reprinted in publications entered in the list on pages iv to vii; post, also most rules and orders which apply only to Bihar, Chota Nagpur or Orissa, and some which are of too great length or too little general importance to be reprinted.

7. To Volume III is appended a short alphabetical index to the contents of all the volumes, also a form for the entry of correction slips.

Rules and Orders excluded from the present work.

8. The following classes of local statutory rules and orders have been altogether excluded from the present work, namely : —

- (a) rules and orders which are of temporary duration (including orders directing a survey to be made), except some which, though temporary, are expressed to have effect for a long period of years, and
- (b) orders which merely confer powers on officials personally by name.

9. General statutory rules and orders (that is to say, rules and orders which are in force in other Provinces as well as Bengal) are also excluded from the present work, they being shown in the "List of General Rules and Orders under Statutes and General Acts in force in British India," published by the Legislative Department of the Government of India in July, 1909, and in the Collection of "General Rules and Orders made under Enactments in force in British India," published by that Department in four volumes in 1907 and 1910.

10. Rules and Orders made for Bengal Native States are excluded. They are to be found in the "British Enactments in force in Native States (Northern India)," published by the Legislative Department of the Government of India in the year 1899.

11. The plan adopted in collecting materials for the present work has been —

(1) to make use of—

- (a) Manuals published by the Government of Bengal, the Board of Revenue and Heads of Departments,
- (b) the General Rules and Circular Orders of the High Court, Appellate Side (4 Vols., 1910),
- (c) the Rules of the High Court, Calcutta, Appellate Side, 1910,
- (d) Belchambers' Rules and Orders of the High Court, 1900,
- (e) the footnotes and Appendices in the General Acts (6 Vols., 1909), the Bengal Code (5 Vols., 1905), and the Central Provinces Code, 1904 (containing local enactments in force in the Sambalpur district),
- (f) lists of rules and orders which have been furnished by the Board of Revenue, Bengal, by Commissioners of Divisions and by the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, and
- (g) lists of recent rules and orders which have been furnished by some of the Administrative Departments of the Government of Bengal, and

(2) to examine Parts I, IA and IB of the Calcutta Gazette from the 2nd January, 1884, to the 3rd April, 1912.

The work is not complete—

- (i) in respect of rules and orders published in the Calcutta Gazette before the year 1884, since the issues of the Gazette before that year have not been examined; or
- (ii) in respect of local rules and orders (if any) published in the Gazette of India and not republished in the Calcutta Gazette, since the Gazette of India has not been examined; or
- (iii) in respect of rules and orders for the Sambalpur district, made before the 16th October, 1905, and published in the Central Provinces Gazette, since that Gazette has not been examined; or
- (iv) in respect of rules and orders which have not been published in any official Gazette or Manual, since the official records have not been systematically searched for the purpose of bringing to light all such rules and orders; or
- (v) in respect of rules and orders of the High Court, since the works referred to in clauses (b) to (d) of this paragraph do not always specify the number and date of individual rules or orders or the enactment (if any) under which they were made.

12. The undersigned would be grateful if anyone who may discover omissions would be so kind as to report them to the Secretary to the Bengal Legislative Council, who will have them noted for the next edition.

13. My acknowledgments are due to Babu Jogendra Nath Bhattacharjee, Superintendent of the General Branch of the Bengal Legislative Department, for his patient and conscientious labour during more than four years past in examining materials and compiling lists for inclusion in this work and in reading proofs. His work has been done under the personal supervision of myself or (during my absence on leave) Mr. A. M. Hutchison, Assistant Secretary to the Bengal Legislative Council. As I am about to leave India, the final proofs will be passed to Press, and an index for insertion at the end of Volume III will be compiled, by Babu Jogendra Nath Bhattacharjee.

<sup>1</sup> Several of these rules were made under earlier Codes of Criminal Procedure, but appear to be kept in force by s. 2(2) of Act V of 1898.

<sup>2</sup> Notifications constituting "police-stations" are very numerous, and are frequently amended and added to. It is therefore difficult to give a complete list of them here, and they are, moreover, not of such general interest as to merit enumeration in a list of this nature. They have therefore been omitted. A "List of Police-stations in Bengal, 1913" is about to be published by the Inspector-General of Police, Bengal.

<sup>3</sup> This notification was issued under s. 7 of Act X of 1882, but appears to be kept in force under s. 7 (2) of Act V of 1898 by s. 2 (2) of the latter Act.
